Torrey House Press, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 173 x 109 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. The Utah Canyons WildMall gives tourists exactly what they want. An archivist preserves a rare map of a vanished Lake Tahoe. The Grand Canyon can only be visited in replica form. These stories--lyrical, deadpan, surreal--blur the line between the natural world and the world we make. Praise for Recapture A Library Journal Best Short Story Collection of the Year Unsensational stories that tell us what the American West looks like now and what we've lost; the Grand Canyon, for instance, can be seen only in replica after environmental catastrophe. --Barbara Hoffert, Library Journal Recapture is a living, breathing museum of natural wonders. With writing as spare as the landscape she evokes, Olsen wades through the detritus of the human experience and finds clarity there, and some magic, too. -- ZYZZYVA True to its name, Recapture grasps after lost loves, fading histories, and shifting landscapes to bring us an expertly curated series of human exhibits in an expansive, outdoor museum. --Lindsey Griffin, the museum of americana literary review Erica Olsen gives us the dream life of the Southwest in this striking collection, a landscape told in language as spare and pungent and exacting as the desert itself. A swift and lovely debut from a writer of real gifts. --Kevin Canty, author of Where the Money Went These sly, heartbreaking stories capture the modern West, where the past is ever-present and the future is already here. --Alison Baker, author of How I Came West, and Why I Stayed Beneath their polished surfaces, Erica Olsen's stories are subversive, sometimes darkly funny, and always disquieting. When you set off on a hike in her universe, be prepared for surprises. You may find...
