Not illustrated. 1903 Excerpt: .accurately made, and the books present a very neat appearance, the system is the same which has been used for twenty years or more, and is antiquated and cumbersome, and should be rearranged and simplified immediately. The annual report of the Ferry Division is also complicated and somewhat unintelligible. Your examiner is preparing a new form of report for this division with a series of standard schedules, comparisons with previous years, and other matter similar to what has already been outlined in my previous report to you upon Department Accounting. (Document 62, Part VI.) Free Passes. Since the Ferry Division was made a part of the Street Department, in 1895, the employees of all the divisions of the Street Department have been given free passes over the ferries, under orders of a former Superintendent of Streets, whereas all other departments are compelled to pay for ferriage....
